

FASTFOOD

Words and Music by Fabian Scheibe, Patrick Scheibe and Lars Nolte

He wakes up, he cross his town and search for a girl a beautiful girl
And that girl he meets is pretty, young and undefiled, she's just a girl like everyday
Now she wants to go with him at home to hear some words about his minds and stories of his life

She only wants to talk with him
But he doesn't want to talk
And he's just hungry

They arrive his house, he locks the door, he takes a hammer and smashes her beautiful face
And when her blood is all over, her screaming stops, he takes his sharpest knife and slashed her thorax
Then he starts to eat her heart, her brain, the kidneys and the liver Then she dies a slowly death and - he's satisfied

She imagined another outing
She's just the menu of the day
And he's still hungry

Girl used as fast food
A nice girl used as fast food

The least of her he saw up and sweeps the bones together after this he brings her to his dog Nobody knows his second face and his actions stays in the darkness
So he is - a very nice guy

Think you could be the next
He could live in your neighbourhood and he's always hungry
